THE DAY IN MACON.

THE BIBB MANUFACTURING COMPANY ATTACKED BY FIRE.

The Drying Room Destroyed—A Locked Jaw—The Macon School—Obstructing Street Crossing—A Long Club—The Tables Turned Personal and General Mission.

MACON, Ga., June 6.—[Special.]—A fire broke out in the drying room of Mill No. 1 of the Bibb manufacturing company, in East Macon, at eight o'clock this morning. It is supposed that the blaze was caused by spontaneous combustion.

The drying room was separated from the dry house by a dead wall, which prevented the fire's spreading. About five hundred dollars worth of stock was in the room, undergoing the drying process. Five minutes after the discovery of the fire, the fire department responded promptly to the alarm, but the difficulty experienced in getting water, and the heat of the fire had gained, prevented saving the stock and machinery. Of the latter, four drying machines and a press were destroyed. Through the damage done to the interior and roof, the room was uninjured. The walls were left intact. The total loss is estimated at two thousand dollars, which is covered by insurance.

On the night of the fourth of last July a similar building on the same site was destroyed by fire. The Bibb manufacturing company has been unfortunate of late, the fire of this morning following close upon the terrible boiler explosion in mill No. 2.

A Locked Jaw.

MACON, Ga., June 6.—[Special.]—A negro woman named Marthas Collinsworth, who is employed by Professor Charles Lane, at 137 Orange street, happened to rather a curious accident to her mouth. She closed it with her hands, and her mouth to gape. Whether she opened it too wide, or whether her lower jaw rested a special account of overwork of the muscle, is not known. Her mouth is now so large that it becomes a living example of a woman who could no longer speak. She informed her employer that she signs with her hands, and that Mr. H. J. White, who was summoned to unlock it. This was successfully accomplished, and the woman is now talking at a rate that will soon make up the time lost during her enforced silence.

The Masseyville Public School.

MACON, Ga., June 6.—[Special.]—The closing exercises of the Masseyville public school, of which Mrs. A. L. White is the principal, occurred at the academy near Massey's mills last night. The programme, which consisted of recitations, singing, and music, was well rendered, and each performer gave little applause from the large audience.

The directors of the academy are among the most successful and reliable business men of Columbus, and when they determine to do a thing they generally succeed. Their efforts to get control of the city's stock in the Mobile and Girard railroad now looks like they will be successful. If so, they will have such a nucleus to begin on as to assure the building of the road. Atlanta should co-operate with Columbus in securing the construction of a line which promises so much benefit to both cities.

There is considerable activity in building improvements just now. Six new residences are being erected on the old female college lot.

The farmers all agree that the prospect for a fine crop was never better than this year. The weather has been most favorable and the farmers have been working hard.

The Standard Almotic company closed an engagement of two weeks at Springer opera house yesterday.

The secret of such a long run is found in the fact that the admission was only 25 and 15 cents. Other troupes would do well to follow the example. The Standard company had a $200 house last night, whereas if it had charged one dollar admission there would not have been twenty-five people in the audience.

Sallie Boykin, the infant daughter of Mr. Forbes Brady, died at Ossweile, Aia, this morning at 3 o'clock. The remains will be brought to this city for interment to-morrow.

Some thief entered the stable of Rev. C. D. Adams, pastor of the Cataula circuit, night before last and stole his horse. It is indeed a mean thief who would steal a preacher's horse.

The electric fire alarm system was completed today. It will be thoroughly inspected and tested next day.

The CONSTITUTION correspondent in company with several others took the first ride on the star extension of the street railroad this afternoon.

Deaths in Macon.

MACON, Ga., June 6.—[Special.]—The mortuary report for the week ended to-day shows that seven deaths have occurred within the city limits. Of these, two were white males, four colored males, and one colored female.

Obstructing Street Crossings.

MACON, Ga., June 6.—[Special.]—At the recorder's court this morning a street car driver named Green was tried for obstructing the crossing on Fourth street, between Shindler's and Grace's stores. Hon. Benj. B. Smith, secretary of the city, said the driver had only stopped his car at the turnabout fixed at that point by City Engineer P. E. Dennis. At the request of 'Chief of Police' Wiley, the case was continued until important witnesses for the city could be summoned.

Death of Mr. E. Peschke.

MACON, Ga., June 6.—[Special.]—E. Peschke, the Second street jeweler, died this afternoon at four o'clock. His remains will be interred in Rose Hill cemetery to-morrow afternoon at half-past three. Mr. Peschke was quite wealthy. He leaves no wife.

Young Merchants in Trouble.

MACON, Ga., June 6.—[Special.]—The closing exercises of the Young Merchants club, of which W. A. Jordan is the president, occurred at the academy near Massey's mills last night. The programme, which consisted of recitations, singing, and music, was well rendered, and each performer gave little applause from the large audience.

The ladies of the woman's Christian temperance union have received an interesting letter from Miss Cleveland, sister of President Cleveland, regretting she could not accept their invitation to attend the annual meeting of the union at this city.

The Columbus amateurs played a scrub nine this evening and won by a score of 11 to 10.

The CONSTITUTION was misinformed in reference to Mr. George L. Johnson resigning the presidency of the Baptist choral society last night. He intended to do so, but the matter was deferred on account of the small attendance.

Mr. J. N. Embry has sold the lot north of the residence of Misses McDaniel to Judge Porter Ingram.

Died on Friday.

He goes fishing full through a trestle—no enemies.

MACON, Ga., June 6.—[Special.]—Hon. Richard S. Neel died at his residence in this city Thursday morning after a long and painful illness. He was a useful citizen and a Christian gentleman. He served in both branches of the general assembly, and was a member of the secession convention. He was a man of character and ability and the word "Honorable" was not misplaced when prefixed to his name.

An American—W. E. Battie.

MACON, Ga., June 6.—[Special.]—Hon. Richard S. Neel, of East Macon, went to McCall's pond, a few miles below the city, bent upon hooking the unwary minnow. After spending the day in more or less successful sport, he started back to the city, taking the Central railroad as a short cut. In crossing the high trestle over Walnut creek, he made a mistake, and fell through. Mr. Neel is quite a heavy man, and but for the fortunate circumstance of landing in soft mud, would probably have been killed. As it was, his appearance when he reached home was so grotesque that even his most intimate friends did not know him.

A Wheelbarrow Thief.

MACON, Ga., June 6.—[Special.]—Police Officer Vagar discovered last night that somebody had robbed him of a wheelbarrow. The officer's little son saw a young negro boy roll the wheelbarrow off about twelve o'clock yesterday, but was too small to him.

Petty thefts are common in Macon, but they almost invariably lead to the arrest and conviction of the guilty. The young negroes here are absolutely worthless, and form the largest portion of the ring of sneak thieves that steals chickens, vegetables and wheelbarrows.

Personal and Otherwise.

MACON, Ga., June 6.—[Special.]—Captain H. H. Harris, a popular conductor on the Brunswick division of the Georgia and Western and Georgia railroads, has been confined to his bed at the Lanier house, by slight injuries sustained in jumping from a train a few days ago. To-day he is much better.

D. C. Shulman, manager of Ludden & Bates' branch house in Columbus, was in Macon today.

Miss Mary Turner and Miss Anna Mitchell of visit Miss Carrie Johnson, on Oak street, during the commencement exercises of the Wesleyan female school.

The joint exhibition of the boys' and girls' high school, of which Professor C. B. Chapman and Miss Jessie Merrill are the principals, will occur at the Union hall on the evening of the 10th instant.

Police Officer McCafferty, who was quite sick for some time, has recovered and is again on duty.

THE NEW YORK CANVASS

THE GUBERNATORIAL RACE FAIRLY OPENED.

The Democrats Stirred Up as to the Stand the Administration Will Take—The Republicans Casting About and Hoping to Gain the President Napping-Gossip.

New York, June 6.—[Special.]—The political fight for the control of New York state next autumn is certain to be exceedingly bitter. Her importance in presidential campaigns, and the uncertainty of her political complexion have been reasons enough for earnest struggles in the past; but to-day both republicans and democrats feel that the prestige of the new administration largely depends upon the result of the coming election for Governor. Every aid that either party can bring into the field, whether it be moral, material, or material, will be centered here and already the leading politicians are concerning themselves with watching and shaping events, even such as appear trivial to the underlings. The democrats are somewhat hampered by the fact that the administration has not yet allowed the elect to know in what direction it will throw its preference. The republicans are hoping that they can catch or put Cleveland in some such attitude as the previous administration assumed when it interested itself with a candidate of its own in the shape of Judge Folger, and when the people rolled up a vote of 200,000 in protest against federal interference, but it is not likely that, with such politicians as Secretaries Manning and Whitney to cozen him, the president will fail to profit by that example, whenever way the president's favor goes, it will be manifested as shrewdly and as privately as possible.

Governor David E. Hill, the foremost candidate before the election, has counted upon the support of the leading politicians of the state, and his having been Mr. Cleveland's lieutenant-governor on the 7th day of July next, between two hours of the valuable dollar mill in Albany, located near the s. w. road to Utica. The money consists of pumps, pipes, platform scales, three-ton scales, all the pulleys, belts, shaftings, and hoppers with extra heavy steel work, to fit a first-class oil mill in running order, also a forty horse power engine complete. The value of the machinery is $10,000, and the cost per ton of cotton seed per day is $1.50. The great Southern remedy for the cure of all the most pleasant and agreeable remedies for all summer complaints. The price $1.50 a bottle.

Taylor's Cherokee Remedy of Sweet and Mallein will cure Coughs, Croup, Consumption, Price $1.50 a bottle.

cause the other is rated at the contemplative figure of $30,000 shortage.

EX GOVERNOR HALE has not only ruined himself, but has succeeded in dragging two of his brothers and a score of his friends into serious financial embarrassment. It is thought that the ex-governor conceived the idea that he could beat the bucket shops.

SIR PETER LUMSDEN has been talking freely since he was recalled from Afghanistan. He has hurt the feelings of the British officials who declare that he must retract his harsh criticisms. Sir Peter's friends say he will resign before he will take back a word. On his arrival in London yesterday, he was received with an enthusiasm which indicates that he has a very large share of popular sympathy in England.

POLITICAL circles of New York are already becoming agitated over the state campaign for governor. The election occurs in the fall, and from now until then politics will engage the attention of the average New Yorker. This is probably well, as it will serve to while away what might otherwise be dull summer hours, but of course it is not for an instant considered a serious undertaking by the democrats. It will be a very easy matter to carry New York in this election.

CAPTAIN NEELMS'S APPOINTMENT.
The appointment of Captain John W.
Neelms as United States marshal, which was made yesterday, was not unexpected. Indeed it was a foregone conclusion. He had the endorsement of both the senators and of every member of the Georgia delegation except one. He had the almost unanimous endorsement of the senate and house of representatives, more nearly unanimous in endorsement, than any other man ever carried out of those two bodies where an appointment was asked for an endorsement at the same time. Captain Neelms is a man of wide popularity, of sterling integrity and great force of character. He is peculiarly adapted to the administration of such an office as that of United States marshal, and that he will make an excellent one cannot be doubted by those who know the man.

THE DOLLAR SUBSCRIPTION FOR THE Y. M. C. A. BUILDING.

The general subscription lists of the Y. M.
C. A. building have been closed. More than the $75,000 has been raised, and the work is done.
The next thing in order is to buy a lot and start the building.

There is one thing that must be carried along with this work. It is the part of safety and prudence to add at least $5,000 to what is already subscribed, that we may be sure of netting $75,000, or of having a surplus, if a surplus should be needed. This addition is proposed to raise by a popular dollar subscription.

There are good reasons for making it a dollar subscription. That step will popularize the building enterprise, and enable every citizen to have a personal interest in it. The work that has been pushed to such success will fall short of its full usefulness if there are not 10,000 citizens of this good city whose names are entered as contributors to this splendid object. Less than 1,000 have already subscribed. There are 10,000 who could do so and who want to do so. We urge them to join in this great dollar subscription. This work has been phenomenal all the way through—let us make this dollar list the crowning glory of the whole affair.

Dollar subscription lists will be placed in every store, shop, home and office on Monday, and it is hoped that some one will be found who will see that it is made convenient to the proprietors and employees. Those who have already subscribed, no matter how largely, are expected to subscribe also to this fund. There are few men into whose hands these lists will fall, who are not able to give a dollar, and who cannot, by a little work, secure many another dollar. We want to see everybody interested in this work, and we ought to get 10,000 subscribers to the dollar fund.

THE CLUVERIUS VERDICT.

The conviction of Cluverius of murder in the first degree is a sign of a healthy public sentiment. The evidence was not positive; there was abundant opportunity, if not for a squittal, certainly for a disagreement in the jury room; but instead of either the jury disregarded the position of the accused and all the pleadings of his lawyers, and promptly brought in a verdict. They were out only thirty-five minutes, or just about time enough to gather an expression and put it in form. Each man's verdict must have been made up before he left the courtroom.

It is doubtful indeed whether such a result would have been reached so speedily if the lesson of Cincinnati had never been given to the county. Some of us have already no doubt forgotten the uprising in Cincinnati against packed juries, the tricks of lawyers and the decay of the law; and when matters were put right in that city by the people—no matter if the remedy was violent and unjustifiable—the whole country took the lesson to heart; and even since that wild occasion it has not been nearly so difficult to bring criminals to punishment.

The lesson of Cincinnati is a solemn warning to all who come between the people and the law; and if we would avoid the anger of the people we should be careful to have honest jurors and reasonable swiftness in the execution of justice. The people will never long remain quiet under a system that brings him client and dishonest jurors. Professors are an abomination in the public. We may be sure the jury in the serious case was a jury that did not look for some loop hole that would let the prisoner escape. They kept justice in mind, and altogether overlooked theories and technicalities, and sentimentalism. There has not been a verdict in many days that has gone further to clear the air and create confidence in the slow process of the law.

PRIVATE HIGH SCHOOLS AND COL- LEGES IN GEORGIA.

In the state school commissioner's report, the table of private high schools for 1884 is unusually full. It contains reports from 154 schools of this kind, two of which are colored.
The enrollment is as follows: White, 11,591;
colored, 888. Total, 12,397.

A comparison of this table, with another report now before us, makes some striking revelations. The document referred to is an educational report made to the legislature in 1860 by the Hon. D. W. Lewis, then of the county of Hancock. This report shows that there were 96 county academies in operation in 1860. In 1890, it will be remembered, the state was in the full tide of prosperity, the taxable property returned that year amounting to $672,000,000. The white population of Georgia was 591,550 in 1860. In 1880 it was 816,900. A calculation on the basis of these figures will show an increase in the twenty years, from 1860 to 1880, of 38 per cent. Supposing the rate of increase to have been the same during the four years between 1860 and the end of 1884, the entire increase of 40 per cent. Now, as has been stated, the number of schools of this class since 1860 has increased over 50 per cent. In other words, the increase in the white population since 1860 has been only 40 per cent, while the increase in the number of white high schools has been 56 per cent. It has been repeated a thousand times, in the last few years, that our public schools have broken up very largely our academies and high schools. The foregoing comparison does not seem to confirm this statement.

The situation in Washington is not inspiring to those who go to Washington determined to have an office or die in the attempt.

IN transferring its article in reply to THE CON-STITUTION to the Nation, the New York Evening Post changes its heading from "Silver Conundrum" to "Silver Puzzles." The latter word gives apt expression to the situation.

Last Tuesday night the Princess de Sagan entered the Parisians with a magnificient ball, rivaling the fabled splendors of the Orient. The queens were all disguised as birds and beasts. In the cable special to the New York Herald there was a startling description of the costumes.

Princess de Sagan, radiant in her plumage of the most bewitching beauties in the grand salon de reception at the head of the staircase. Her toilet is to day the talk of all Paris. The skirt was bluish green satin, covered with point de Venise lace, spangled with diamonds, pearls and emeralds. Behind was a splendid peacock's tail spread out over the shoulders and covered with hundreds of diamonds, rubies, emeralds and topazes. The coiffure was Medics, with diamonds. The princess wore a coronet surmounted with an aigrette of peacock feathers. The corsage was of green and blue feathers, and at the neck was a studded peacock's head with diamond and ruby eyes. Baron Selliere, in the character of a peacock, with a volume of his famous natural history under his arm. The

THE Y. M. C. A. FUND BEYOND THE AMOUNT SET FOR IT.

The Meeting of Last Night—The Sale of a Copy per Cent-A Dollar Fund to be Raised—The List of the Subscribers of Yesterday—Notes on the Work.

The beautiful home of Captain J. W. English was crowded last night with the men and women who have made Atlanta. They were putting up the most beautiful work ever begun in Atlanta. In our mayor's house the first conference was held—remarkable in so many ways. That first meeting will never be forgotten. Last night his house was full to overflowing, and the grand work so happily inaugurated within his home was then completed.

Speech will not allow comment upon the quotations made in Governor Bullock's card from the speeches of other persons. What they are worth depends upon when they were spoken and under what circumstances. Whether Clews's account is correct is foreign to the question whether those bonds bound the state. That some would have preferred to submit the matter to the courts affects not that question. In the speech quoted from by Governor Bullock, Governor Jenkins said: "Now, sir, I know that there have been many frauds practiced upon the state off Georgia since the conclusion of the war—that such has suffered much at the action of her government, I am ready to concede that there have been many fraudulent debts created against her which is not in honor bound to pay, but at the same time there are obligations created by the state government which the state is bound to pay to certain individuals in honor and some which she has already recognized and paid." And then mentioning the cases of J. Beaman, Johnson & Co., and of Governor Jenkins' fellow townsmen, Morris, Branch & Herring, he urged submission of the questions to the courts. On a year and a half ago the ages were fifteen, the mays one hundred and sixty six.

Suppose this were a judicial question, as Governor Bullock erroneously contends, it is dishonest for Georgia to decline to submit it to a jury when the very persons charged with the wrongs would be the witnesses against her and those interested in the millions at stake?

But it is not a judicial question. It is purely political. States have allowed themselves individually and when they owned banks, railroads and the like. To ascertain how much should be paid to the states to emancipate patients by her request, Georgia allowed herself sued. It was for the convenience of herself and claimants, because the least expensive mode of fixing amounts. But it was optional with her to pay or refuse after judgments. For like reasons the United States may be sued as to certain matters in her court of claims. But who ever heard of a government submitting its court questions concerning what is called her public debt? If it were politic for a state so to do, it would seem more honest to submit them to the United States courts than to her own. During the revolution the states confiscated debts due to British subjects and put the money in their treasuries. They were sued in the United States courts therefor. To cut off such unseemly proceeding the constitution of the United States was amended in 1790, so that the United States courts could have no jurisdiction in "any suit in law or equity commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States" by any private person. The state's consent could not confer jurisdiction. It is contrary to the genius of our institutions to make such questions judicial.

Though short for the subject, these remarks are long for the reader. They are submitted by one having no interest in the subject not common to all Georgia. They are my unite of defense of Georgia against the unjust assaults upon her reputation. Yours, etc., N. J. HAMMOND.

Dr. Marshall's Meetings.

The meetings conducted by Dr. Marshall in the tabernacle which began a week ago with the largest attendance ever known, have developed into the most astounding result ever known in Atlanta. Dr. Marshall is the ablest revivalist that we remember to have seen here, and as an exponent of the bible he may well be said to be incomparable. His earnestness and zeal show plainly his consecration to the work he has in hand. The singing of Mr. Marshall is an admirable adjunct to Dr. Marshall's work and is divine with the great enthusiasm of the sympathies of the meetings. Mr. Will's singing approaches the nature of inspiration in its sweetness and simplicity, and he has made hosts of friends who will remember his visit with pleasure. The number of people who have attended these meetings is from three to five thousand. It is hard to estimate the great crowds that assemble. It is hard to estimate the great crowds that assemble.

PANELL STILL AT LARGE.

Seinen Brothers Who are on the War Path for the Muchly Married Painter.

Selma, Ala. June 6.—[Special.]—James D. Panell, the muchly married painter has not been captured or spotted yet, though the authorities of this city are making an earnest effort to that end. He went on foot from this city toward Montgomery, and flagged a train down ten miles north of the city and got aboard. His baggage had been checked to Montgomery, and is now held in that city. The brothers of the young lady to whom he was betrothed are indignant, and it will be a bad day for Panell should he return to Selma.

German Resisting English Claims.

LONDON, June 6.—Proposed of the German dispute over the right of the duke of Cumberland to succeed to the government of the grand duchy of Brunswick, the Vossische Zeitung demands the passage of a law excluding all foreign princes from succeeding to the throne in any of the German states. In an elaborate argument, the paper says that the law proposed by the duke of Cumberland to the Coburg-Gotha case is one which the duke of Edinburgh, it says, must be excluded for the reason, among others, that it would give the German states a right to any longer be regulated by inviolable family laws, but must be harmonized with the higher political aims of the German empire.

A Colored Conjurer's Fate.

LITTLE ROCK, June 6.—The mysterious murder of the old colored man, Miles Owen, was committed by the Duke of Edinburgh, Jefferson County, Wednesday night, it is being investigated. It had been about that Owen was believed to be a conjurer to the superstitions of his race, and was murdered by them because he was feared. He was considered a witch by the negro community, and any illness that he caused was attributed to his power. A multitude of negroes will be arrested. The investigation is creating a consternation among the negroes.

American Bishops in Rome.

LONDON, June 6.—Dis派ches from Rome state that the Catholic bishops of Erie, Nebraska and Dakota, have left the holy city for home. Bishop Richter, of Grand Rapids, Mich., and the bishop of Cleveland, have arrived at Rome and been received by the pope.

SOME TRADE TOPICS.

From the Douglassville, Ga., Star.

There is a man in Douglassville who has carried a piece of wood with him every day for twenty-seven years. He did not part from it during the war.

From the Dublin, Ga., Post.

Mr. H. E. Lowery, living in the lower part of this county, has a small gold which was grown in 1831—the year of his birth. It has been in his possession all the while, and it would take a great deal to divest him of it.

From the Carnesville, Ga., Register.

Mr. S. F. Bassett, of New Carnesville, has sold out his old estate. Among them are Spanish dollars bearing date 1788, 1790, 1793, 1801, 1802, 1810 and 1818. He has Persian coins 1801, 1802, 1810 and 1818. He has a silver dollar bearing date 1821, 1825, 1844 and 1854. A Mexican dollar bearing date 1822, and a half-dollar of United States coin dated 1850.

From the Marietta, Ga., Journal.

The public well at Lost Mountain has been dug about two years and John Goodwin has just put the first shovel over it.

Mr. Daniel's Arnold, of this place, has a needless case that was carried through the Revolutionary war by his great-grandfather, Mr. Hopkins, one of the signers of the declaration of independence. Mr. Arnold carried it in the late war and it is well preserved yet.

WASHINGTON SEMINARY.

A Brilliant Series of Closing Exercises During the Past Week.

On Thursday morning and evening the accomplished teachers of this very successful school, with their scholars, gave their friends a very gratifying display of their talents and knowledge. The morning was devoted to recitations and songs. We were going to say "the sun" recitation and songs, but there was so much freshness and originality in either the composition or delivery of the exercises that it will be difficult to describe as extraordinary. Never does so much naturalness get into the delivery of school exercises as in the voices of the young children of these little birds and warbling larks.

The school room, where it was decided to hold the graduation exercises, was filled with students, parents, friends, relatives, ladies, magicians and ferns. There was a floral arch over the platform and the walls were prettily decorated with fern leaves and cedar. A large assembly, filling every seat and overflowing into the hall, attended the evening exercises. The students and the graduating class was brilliant and appropriate. The following program was carried off:

1. Overture. Crown Diamonds, Aubrey, Misses Williams, Birchall, Holloman, Prof. Schneider, Prayer.

2. Chorus. Stephanie Gavotte, Czibulka, by the school.

3. Composition, The Vision of Sir Launfal, Miss Anna. 4. Composition, How Full of Briars is this Day World, Miss Lulu Walker.

5. Solo, Waltz, by Miss Holloman.

6. Composition, Nature's Genii, Miss Lizzie Rucker.

7. Composition, The Bells of Shandon, Miss Matilda.

8. Chorus, Polonaise, Miss Mamie Williams.

9. Reading, from Merchant of Venice, Misses Walker, Holloman, Rucker, Williams, Misses Williams, Birchall, Holloman, Prof. Schneider.

10. Piano Quartette, Therese Waltz, Faust, Misses Williams, Birchall, Holloman, Prof. Schneider.

11. Composition, Literature of the Elizabethan Era, Miss Lula Holloman.

12. Chorus, Double Waltz, by the school.

13. Chorus, Hymn to the Rockies.

14. Chorus, Good Night, by the school.

The closing papers and expressive readings and recitations held the admiring attention of the audience unweary to the last. The address was given by the scholars, and the friends by the pillars of the school. Mr. Taylor Stewart and his assistants, Mrs. B. F. Mallon, Miss Rose Chevalier, Miss Nora Belle Stark, Mrs. N. E. Ellis and Fred Massa, were all present, having spent a year of wise, devoted and successful teaching. In such schools as this Atlanta proves her present high attainments and products, and prepares for her better future.

Leveled to the Ground.

On the 1st of May, 1885, Atlanta, where we walk against the old reliable dry goods stores and shoe houses of Chamberlin, Johnson & Co. is to level to the ground, not by fire but by the strong arms and machinery under the control of skilled architect and builders who will complete in a few months for this firm one of the most magnificent store buildings in the south and by far the finest in the state. This new building will be the largest in the city, on the old store soon after the war, and by energy of fair dealing and business capacity, have built up a trade second to none, and far in excess of their former business. The new building will be the new store will be five stories high and on the order of the finest dry goods houses on Broadway in New York. The business is to be conducted in a moving rapidly and the movement is forward, and in less than ten years our population will be between 75 and 100 thousand. Let us keep up with the movement.

John Keely.

The irrepressible Whitehall street merchant is now in New York again for the purchase of goods.

Some merchants, indeed most of them, complain of dull times; yet John Keely is off again for stock.

We believe this is the third or fourth trip he has made to New York this season, and each time he has returned with a large quantity of goods which he has secured for the "bargains" which his trips have secured for their inspection and benefit. We promise the people of Atlanta that his return will be safe, and at this season of the year goods are scarce in New York. Keely always strikes it right. His sidewalks will again be crowded with boxes in a day or two, and the business will be brisk.

He has had advices from New York of impending sales which proved too seductive for him to resist. He has been to New York twice and was available and off he went. His goods, many by express, will be arriving all this week and much interest will be manifested in purchases for everybody. Be sure to visit his store frequently this week. It will pay you to do so.

Lithographs of Peters Park.

Beautiful lithograph designs of Peters park, as it will appear when finished, have been made and can be obtained, by application at the real estate office of Colonel George W. Adair. The sale of lots will occur shortly, and all those who contemplate purchasing should get out these designs. They are full size and clear and send us an idea of the park as it will appear when finished.

SOCIETY SKETCHES.

PEN PICTURES OF THE SOCIAL WORLD OF ATLANTA.

Glimpses at Social Events in Georgia—Various Social Events Briefly Noted—A Remarkably Gay Week in the Georgia Capital and Over the State-Balls, Parties, Etc.

A most signal success was scored by the Huber club in an entertainment for the benefit of the Fourth Presbyterian church at Concordia hall last Monday night. Everything upon the programme was a decided hit. The orchestral music of the evening, by Messrs. F. B. Orchard, Richard Lockhart, J. H. Lester and Joe Mix, was excellent and elicited such general and unstinted praise as is seldom bestowed upon professional musicians. The banjo solo, by Messrs. Orchard and Thomas, and the accordion solo, by Mr. Fred Massa, were heartily encored. The recitation of Miss Jennie Enoch was faultlessly rendered and evinced wonderful talent in this charming little lady. The sun flower chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Thos. Smillie, was a novel feature and took the large audience by storm. The recitation of "The Fisherman's Wife," by Miss Fannie Byrd, was gracefully and artistically rendered. The reading of Mr. Arnett back of the recitation of Mr. L. P. Hill were rare specimens of dramatic recitations. In fact, the whole programme afforded a succession of remarkable efforts, and the entertainment has added new lustre to the fame of the Huber, as well as having aided a most worthy cause.

Tennis is quite popular here now. There are two regularly organized clubs. One is composed of Miss Clifford Putnam, Miss Laura Kimball, Miss Jessie Hammond, Miss Eddie Hill, Mr. Tom Erwin, Mr. Dan Harris, Mr. Alexander Smith and Mr. T. A. Hammond, Jr. This club has grounds and courts and plays twice a week. It also has beautiful uniforms for the players, the gentlemen wearing white shirts, white trousers, white shirts, light knee breeches, dark stockings and tennis shoes. The young ladies wear gay striped dresses, and the effect is a pretty picture. The other club is composed of most excellent young ladies and gentlemen, and many interesting games are played on grounds at the residence of Mr. Will Nutting. Among those who play are Mr. Will Nutting, Mr. Henry Peoples, Mr. Valley Bullock, Miss Timmy Hammond, Miss Cornelia Bullock, Miss Ellie Peck, Miss Fannie Clarke and Miss Maude.

At a meeting of the Nine o'clock German club last night it was decided that the annual picnic of the club should be given in Louisville next Thursday. The picnic party will leave the city at 10 o'clock in the morning and will return about 7. The annual picnic of this club is always a most enjoyable affair and that of next Thursday promises to eclipse any former one yet given by the young gentlemen composing this well known social organization. It numbers among its members many of the most prominent young gentlemen of the city and there is not a social organization in the state that is better known nor that has done more to sustain the social reputation of its respective city than has this club done for Atlanta. Dancing is a harmless and pleasant pastime, and when under the auspices of such well known gentlemen, on the occasion of the proposed picnic, is an enjoyable recreation which will be indulged in by one of the nicest parties that has picnicked from this city this season.

Miss O. V. Murphy's music class gave a piano recital at 76 Spring street Friday evening, which was very creditable to the performers and was enjoyed by the visitors. Among the attractions of evening were the following pieces:

Sweet Bye and Bye, with variations, by Miss Fanette Harrison, the talented daughter of Mr. Jas. P. Harrison.

A fine trio from the opera of Des Freischlitz, by Misses Fräher and Belle Murphy.

Home Sweet Home, by Miss Cléo Fräher.

The rest of the programme consisted of fantasia, Assassination of Gupid, Miss H. Hirschberg, I'll Say for Thee, vocal solo, Miss Mary Lamert.

Shepherd Boy, Idyl, Miss Mary Gillette.

Bye, Bye, Baby, personated ballad, Misses Emily Murphy and Sam Hirschberg.

Angels' Serenade, Miss Mary Gilbert.

Home Waltz, Miss Lucy Thompson.

Miss Josephine Baum, niece of Colonel Baum, returned home Friday morning by way of Washington, where she will spend a few days with friends. Miss Baum made many warm friends during her two months visit in Atlanta, and her departure is regretted by many at the Kimball house.

A very delightful little tea party was given at the Kimball house last Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Baum. The table was beautifully decorated with dovers and each lady was presented with a beautiful bouquet by Colonel Baum.

The ladies' toilets being pure white and their faces radiant with smiles made a very pretty picture at the table. Miss Baum went away delighted with Atlanta and the warm-hearted, hospitable southern people. Colonel Baum is delighted with the ladies and gentlemen of Atlanta, whose kind attention added so much to the pleasure of his niece during her stay at the Kimball house.

Mr. Albert Howell, the general ticket agent at the union passenger depot was asked yesterday if the summer resoters had not increased. "No," he replied, "but they are inquireably anxious about rates. There is a big demand for rates and other information."

The rates will be about the same as last year. I know of no material difference in prices. The crowds will begin to leave in about ten days, the ladies going first and the gentlemen following later. The general inclination now seems to be to go to the springs in North Carolina and Virginia. There have been very few applications for rates to the sea coast."

Next Saturday Atlanta will be enlivened by two major events in high life. On Tuesday evening the 1st, Mr. George Taylor will be married to Miss Mary Conner, daughter of Mr. J. M. Conner. There will be eight couples of attendants. A reception will be given to the bridal party at the residence of Mr. Conner on Ponce de Leon avenue.

On the evening of Wednesday the 17th, Mr. Will Hoyt, son of Judge S. B. Hoyt will be married to Miss Mamie Rankin, daughter of Dr. J. W. Rankin. There will be a dozen attendants.

A popular jewelry house has received some very handsome specimens of art goods to put on the market this fall. "Hokushin," a sort of Bohemian ware, is very pretty and is made into jugs, pitchers and similar ornaments for the parlor. There are some pretty specimens in new styles of Hungarian goods. Dresden ware made into receivers for flowers and ornamented with artificial flowers of the ware are very pretty. These goods will be on sale until fall, but the samples are very interesting to see."

The Jackson Hill club met Thursday at 365 Wheat street, the home of Mr. C. W. Fox. After the rendition of a pleasant programme the election of officers occurred. Mr. G. B. Everett was elected president, Miss Lizzie Redwine vice-president and Miss Alle Fox secretary. The next meeting will be held at the residence of Mr. W. M. McElroy, on Jackson street. The meetings of the club are growing in interest and quite a number of visitors are in attendance at each meeting.

One of the most delightful private picnics of the season will occur Wednesday next at Green Lake pond, the beautiful sheet of water at the home of Colonel B. J. Wilson, of West End. Invitations have been issued, and the party will be entirely select. The young people will meet at the residence of Colonel Wilson at 9 o'clock and repair together to the pond. A magnificent dinner will be one of the special features of the day's enjoyment.

Mr. John G. Davis, of Madison, was in town during the week.

Appling.

Mr. John G. Davis and Miss Iris Sturgis were united in marriage at "Woodville," the residence of the bride's parents, on Wednesday evening last, Rev. J. W. Rogers, of Thomson, officiating. Mr. Davis is a member of the Princeton Hospital faculty, and Miss Iris is the true twin of the word. May they live long and happy is the wish of all.

Barnesville.

Miss Maybelle Powell, one of Barnesville's leading society stars, is visiting Mrs. W. T. Inman, of Atlanta, and will remain with her.

Dr. Hawthorne has accepted the invitation to deliver the commencement address at Gordon night. A banquet was served to the twenty young ladies present. There were appropriate sentiments and responses and the affair was most pleasant throughout.

The young ladies of Washington seminary gave an entertainment at the seminary on Cain street, Friday evening, at which about one hundred and fifty young people gathered. There was dancing and after o'clock refreshments were served. The school had its final exercises on the evening before, and this was a delightful beginning of the long summer vacation.

In the representation of the scene from Racine's "Phèdre" which was given at the Atlanta Female Institute last Thursday night the costumes were made by the young ladies who wore them. Their correctness and elegance were complimentary alike to the historical accuracy and to the skillful handiwork of the young ladies.

A party of twenty-five young ladies and gentlemen of Augusta, with half a dozen chaperones will go to Beaufort S. C., next week to attend the opening soiree of the season at that popular summer resort. Three or four Atlanta couples will join the school. The programme for this pleasant engagement covers three days and promises rare pleasure.

The commencement of the celebrated school of Mrs. Sylvester Reed, of New York city, is just over. Among the noted pupils from the south are Misses Clara Maud Jones and Annie Adair, both of our city. The former, so her teachers report, is one of the brightest girls from the south, while Miss Adair has taken the first honor in her class—the junior.

Mr. Frank Miller and his charming bride, nee Miss Bessie Powell, who were married on the 1st, will be at home at the Kimball house after July 1st. They are spending their honeymoon at the north. Mr. Miller is one of the most popular of Atlanta's citizens, and his bride is a lovely and accomplished lady who has hosts of friends.

A dress reception was given at the Capital City club is talked of. There were many elegant and pleasant social events in Atlanta last winter than the four receptions given by the club to its lady friends. The present dull social season would be greatly enlivened by a repetition of these entertainments.

Miss Clara Lou Phiri, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Phiri, was married on Wednesday evening last to Mr. William M. George. The marriage occurred at the family residence 104 Walton street. The bride and groom have many friends who unite in wishing them great prosperity and happiness.

A delightful hop was given Tuesday night at Concordia hall by the association. There were about twenty-five couples present, and a most delightful evening was passed. Concordia contributes greatly to the social enjoyments of Atlanta.

At five o'clock this afternoon Mr. Julius Menko will be married in New York to Miss Bertha Sutzbacher. The young couple will arrive in Atlanta next Saturday, and will be welcomed by numerous friends.

Miss Arnold Goldberg Brilliantine the American prima donna is now in California. Her parents reside in Atlanta and the fair singer has many friends here, who feel a deep interest in her movements.

The next meeting of the Philharmonic society will be held Thursday evening at the residence of Mr. J. H. Mecasin, Rawson street.
